1. How we embedded research into the project
2. Some of the research techniques we used
3. Opportunities and challenges associated with this approach

Truth 1

Digital projects are
R&D projects

Truth 2

R&D in digital is about research from beginning to end.

Truth 3

Most digital projects are lots of Design and not much Research

Little/No
research

Lower results
Smaller audience
Less innovative

"I really want to improve. But it's precisely because I yearn for it that I'm afraid of remedies that are worse than the disease"

Vincent van Gogh, August 1879

You can't hang on to both the means and the end in a project.

That's not innovation.

If you always do
what you've
always done,
you'll always get
what you've always got

Henry Ford

from research being a “thing you do”
to a way you do it.

Roles of designer/researcher

Discovery:
Investigate the Humans!

Define: Identify the focus of the design activity

Define: Manifesto
a public declaration of
intentions, opinions,
objectives, or motives

Examples:

1. The guide will be easy to use in every context
2. The guide helps visitors look carefully at the real art
3. The guide will ease congestion and help visitors to get closer to the paintings

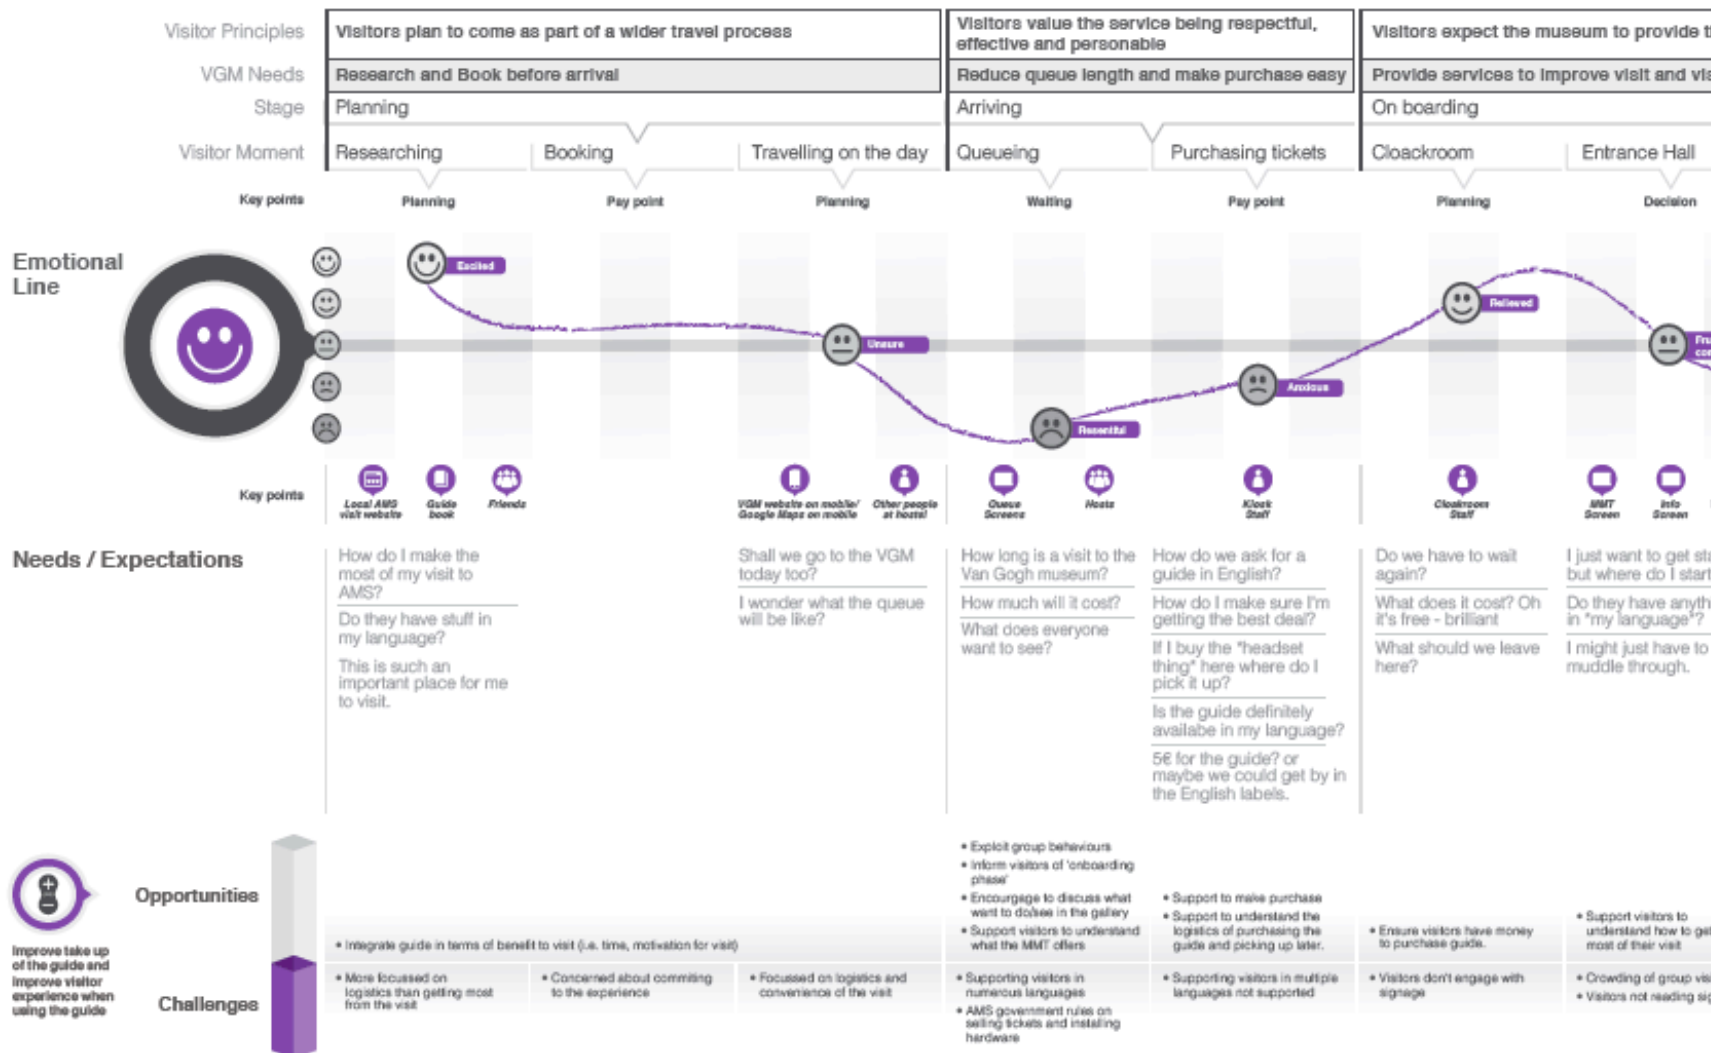

Define Develop: Visitor Journey Map

Documents the visitors experience from the visitors eyes.

Use it to understand how customers interact at specific moments and identify improvement opportunities.

Portugese Friends Visitor experience map Van Gogh Museum

Develop: Visitor Journey Mapping

1. They are great at:

- Prioritising important moments for visitors and organisation
- Developing a shared understanding of the whole situation
- A visual reminder of audience experience

2. Beware:

- Balance detail with ease of use
- They generate an overwhelming number of ideas
- They can be very unwieldy – where will you stick them?

Develop Deliver:

Empathic design

Giving designers and commissioners personal experience to understand the needs of the user.

Use it to focus on user needs or undiscovered needs.

Develop Deliver: Empathic design

What we learnt:

1. It is very, very useful
2. It needs to be responsive
3. That means being in the same room
4. It can be frustrating for designers because it's a brake on the project

Develop Deliver: Shared Analysis

Decision makers, designers and researchers work together to review real data and begin to synthesise the results.

Develop Deliver: Shared Analysis

Develop Deliver: Shared Analysis

What we learnt:

- Seeing and hearing real people has more impact
- Designers can get to grips with the context easier
- The analysis is rarely as thorough

But...

- The understanding is often deeper

The Results

- Increased usage
- Increased learning
- Improved perception of the organisation

Take Aways

Think about your role as researchers, advocates, facilitators, designers

How can your practice be responsive to digital projects

Evaluate the compromise between the strength of the analysis and the need engage designers and decision makers to "own the data"

It can create lots of impact but also change - is your organisation ready for that it?
